How long do we keep your data?

We will keep your data only for as long as we need it. How long we need data depends on what we are using it for, whether that is to provide services to you, for our own legitimate interests or so that we can comply with the law. We will review the information we hold and when there is no longer a customer, legal or business need for us to hold it, we will either delete it securely or in some cases anonymize it.

How do we protect your data?

We protect your personal data against unauthorised access, unlawful use, accidental loss, corruption or destruction. We use technical measures such as encryption and password protection to protect your data and the systems they are held in. We also use operational measures to protect the data. We keep these security measures under review and refer to industry security standards to keep up to date with current best practice.

Who do we share your personal data with?

We may share your personal data with the following categories of third party processors, all of which are located inside the European Economic Area (EEA):

- our email services providers
- our data hosting service providers
- our website hosts, operators and IT support providers
- our survey providers
- our EU based Associates (trainers, facilitators, coaches, mentors, consultants)
- our publishers, printers and delivery service providers
- our financial services and payment service provider
- our auditors, technical consultants and legal advisors

We will make sure that all third parties respect your personal data and comply with data protection laws. They are not permitted to use or share your personal data except as necessary to perform services on our behalf or to comply with legal requirements.

If we do transfer data outside the EEA, we will make sure that it is protected in the same way as if it were being used in the EEA. We will use one of the following safeguards to ensure that it is protected:

- Transfer the data to a non-EEA country which is recognized by the European Commission to have privacy laws at least as protective as those within the EEA
- Put in place a contract with the recipient of the data which means the recipient must protect the data to the same standards as required within the EEA
- Transfer it to organizations which are part of the Privacy Shield. The Privacy Shield is a framework which sets out the standards for data to be sent between the United States and European countries.

We will only share your credit and debit card information with our payment card and fraud management services providers in order to process payments and prevent and detect fraud.

We will share your data as needed for security, legal compliance, auditing or as part of a corporate restructuring.
